SKETCH OF PRESIDENT JOHNSON .- The following sketch is furnished by a corres-

Sketch of President Johnson.—The following sketch is furnished by a correspondent of the St. Louis Republican:

"Of erect and clastic form, about five feet nine inches high, and well proportioned; of compact, flexible and powerful muscle, he impresses the critic as a man of almost limitless activity and endurance, and, perhaps, of enjoyment. Fifty years sit light upon him; he moves as in his prime, and seems never to rest. His complexion is brunette; his hair is dark, but adorned with dots and lines of silver; his dark eyes are brilliant when at rest, but, when impassioned, are as glowing coals of fire; the crow-feet of years are near them, and glasses of Brazilian pebble mark the decadence of summer light of life. His features are positive and decided; his expression is vivid as sunshine glancing through crystal prisms; yet care and thought are chiseling their atlas on his manly face and brow. I have heard ladies affirm him the handsomest of our national dignitaries, and should you ever meet him in the social circle and converse with him, you will doubtless endorse their opinion. Without ostentation, his apparel is chaste and elegant; without vanity, he parades no superfluous ornaments of taste: neither a fop nor a clown, you remark him as the dignified and finished gentleman in mode and manners."

The Freedman's Bureau.—Gen. Grant

THE FREEDMAN'S BUREAU.—Gen. Grant said, in his recent report, that the Freedman's Bureau was a present necessity, but seemed to be operated by the different agents of the Eureau according to their individual notions. Gen. Howard, the Commissioner of the Bureau, in view of this assertion, has issued a stringent order that the most thorough inspection shall be at once made, and the cyils complained of corrected.

The Director of the Mist has made for the Secretary of the Treasury specimens of double eagles, eagles, half eagles, dollars, halves and quarters, bearing the motto, "In God we trust." The Secretary, it is stated, approves the designs, and the coins named made hereafter will bear this legend. The smaller coins do not afford room for the words.

The history of Mexico shows that during the last forty years, Mexico has had thirty-seven different forms of government, thirty-two of which were republic and seventy-five Presidents. Its revolutions, during that time, have been more than two hundred.

The Darlington New Era learns that Gen. Beall, lately in command of that Military District, is coming South as the representative of a company of capitalists in Maine, with a view of making investments in real estate, and forming a colony of immigrants.

The first forty miles of the Union Pacific Railway to Omaha West, was finished on Monday last.

The first executive session confirmed Herman Kriesmann, formerly Secretary of Legation at Berlin, to be Consul at Berlin.

The radicals of Iowa are circulating a petition for the impeachment of President Johnson.

The population of California is on the decrease. All wealth seems to centre in San Francisco, and the interior gives out plaintive wails of distress.

The Germans of Montgomery, Alabama, have formed a society under the name of the "German Society," for the promotion and protection of German immigration.

It is reported that information has been received of the fitting out of one—and probably two—Chilean privateers at New York.

Venango County, Pa., is gushing forth about fourteen thousand barrels of oil daily.

on the 21st inst., which caused much de-struction to the shipping.
